

Group Rules

1. Show Respect

When speaking of your Asperger Partner/Spouse or of another Asperger, please speak with respect for them, as well as not referring in generalities as all Aspie's, they, them, and those etc.

2. Confidentiality

All things shared within the group must remain private. If posting from another group, you must receive permission from that person before posting it here.

3. The No No's

No political discussion or debates whatsoever. No challenging of doctrinal beliefs. No cussing, swear words or inappropriate language.

4. Posting Guidelines

When posting, we encourage you to post your challenges, experiences, praise reports, testimonies, and scripture

We request that you not suggest/promote other groups within My Aspie and Me. You may do so privately.

5. Core Beliefs We Believe In

That marriage is between a man and woman.

The Trinitarian God

The Bible is God's infallible word.

The Holy Spirit indwells each person at the moment of salvation and provides gifts to each believer.

6. Show Support When Others Post

When a member posts in general-or-requests suggestions, please honor them with a response even if you do not have an answer. We are all here for support, to receive support and to offer our support.
